

Early in your career exploration, research employers to help narrow some of your choices. With several broad fields in mind, you can identify and explore specific careers and occupations. During your job search, return to this resource to research specific organizations in preparation for interviews. On the Career Development Center's Web site, you will find a link to web sites that will help you research occupations and companies. Visit: http://www.tacoma.washington.edu/student_affairs/career/company_research.cfm.

Discover majors and occupations and what links the two.

JobWeb – www.jobweb.com

Major Resource Kits from the University of Delaware – www.udel.edu/CSC/mrk.html

Zoom Info. – www.zoominfo.com

ReferenceUSA – www.referenceusa.com

University of WA Libraries – www.lib.washington.edu

Education Planner-

www.educationplanner.com/education_planner/discovering_article.asp?sponsor=2859&articleName=Fastest_Growing_Occupations

Use this tutorial to learn how to learn how to look for occupations and employers.

Deb Flanagan's Tutorial for Researching Companies – www.learnwebskills.com/company/index.html

Read about individual employers in these online magazines.

American Stock Exchange – www.amex.com

Bloomberg – www.bloomberg.com

Business Week Online – <http://www.businessweek.com/bschools>

Entrepreneur's Franchise 500 – www.entrepreneur.com

Forbes 500, International 500, & Largest Private Companies – www.forbes.com

Fortune 500, Fortune's Best Companies to Work for (current year),

& 50 Best Companies for Minorities – <http://money.cnn.com/magazines/fortune>

Hospitality Net (online trade publications for the global hospitality/hotel industry) –

www.hospitalitynet.org/index.html

INC 500 – www.inc.com/inc500

New York Times – www.nytimes.com

Public Schools – <http://nces.ed.gov/ccd/schoolsearch>

Wall Street Journal – <http://online.wsj.com/careers/main>

Working Mother Magazine – www.workingmother.com

Get ideas of salary ranges for careers you may be interested in exploring.

www.salary.com

<http://www.vault.com>